

IPADS IN EDUCATION

There is no denying that the iPad has the potential to be one of the most transformational tools for education. Yet in so many schools it is used simply as a web browser, a research tool or for playing learning games.

These workshops are about breaking away from the norm, which has little or no impact on teaching and learning and using the iPad to really push the boundaries around creativity, assessment, collaboration and even parental engagement.

“It was a great experience to learn more about how iPads can be used effectively in school and taught me about some great apps that I could use easily in my own classroom.”

M1 TIPS & TRICKS

We cover everything from locking a student into a single app to being able to cast your iPad to the main classroom screen/board wirelessly. There are a ton of features available to show you.

M2 OOZE CREATIVITY

Schools were creative before iPads, but never before has creativity been this accessible. In this module we take you through some of the best apps that will get you editing videos, animating and creating new and engaging content.

M3 COLLABORATE

How about turning YouTube videos into interactive quizzes? What about creating presentations in minutes that you control on student iPads? Just some of the great tools to add to your collaborative teacher toolkit.

M4 ASSESSMENT

In this module teachers will uncover the best apps and techniques to support both formative and summative assessment, capturing the learning journey from Foundation stage through to KS2. An essential workshop if your teachers have an iPad to use daily.

M5 G SUITE & O365

At some point very soon, you'll want to start to consider how you move work around between teacher and pupil iPads. The quickest way of doing this will be to use the cloud. We'll also show you some great ways to engage parents here.

M6 GET INNOVATIVE

There is so much more to using iPads. Everything from using QR codes to creating your Augmented Reality content. This is the mind-blowing workshop for those looking for the wow factor.
